About

This site provides neutral legal information only as a public service by the Virginia Access to Justice Commission for self-represented litigants. Judges and clerks of court may have a local practice that is not reflected on this website. Always check with your local court about its procedures. This website does not take the place of a lawyer, and cannot advise you on strategy or tell you what to say in court. Please note that only a lawyer representing you can provide legal advice. Visit the Find a Lawyer page for more information.
